

PADEL LOGAN

PLAYER LEVEL GUIDE

Aligned to the Padel Australia Player Rating Guide

You don't need an official rating to pick a level. Find the description that most closely matches how you play now.

| LEVEL & RATING                            | THE STANDARD                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | WHERE YOU FIT                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|-------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| BEGINNER1.0 – 1.5              | New to padel, or only a handful of games in. You are learning the rules, scoring, court positioning and the fundamental shots. Serving, returning and sustaining a rally are still developing, and you may have limited experience playing the ball off the glass.                                     | You belong here if: You're still learning the game and developing the basic skills needed to comfortably play a match.                                                                     |
| BEGINNER +1.5 – 2.0            | Past your first few games and you understand how padel is played. You can serve, return and take part in rallies, particularly at a slower pace, and you are starting to understand doubles positioning, moving to the net and using the glass.                                                        | You belong here if: You understand the game and can play points and short rallies, but you're still developing consistency, positioning and confidence.                                    |
| BEGINNER ++2.0 – 2.5           | A regular player becoming comfortable in full matches. You keep the ball in play at slow to medium pace with more control over serve, return and groundstrokes, and you are starting to use volleys, overheads and the glass. Accuracy can still drop when rallies quicken.                            | You belong here if: You can comfortably play a full match and maintain rallies, but you're still developing accuracy, shot selection, glass play and consistency at higher speeds.         |
| INTERMEDIATE3.0 – 3.5          | An established player, confident and consistent at medium pace. You understand doubles positioning, defend using the glass and move comfortably between the back of the court and the net. Volleys and overheads are becoming reliable and you construct points rather than simply returning the ball. | You belong here if: You're comfortable in all areas of the court, understand positioning and basic tactics, and can consistently compete with other experienced club players.              |
| INTERMEDIATE ADVANCED3.5 – 4.0 | A strong, experienced club player who holds up at a faster pace. You defend confidently with the glass, your net play is effective and your volleys and overheads are reliable. You construct points with your partner, anticipate play and move between defence and attack.                           | You belong here if: You're a strong intermediate player who can compete consistently at higher speeds, construct points tactically and use a broad range of attacking and defensive shots. |